Will Submit Their Proposition to the Management of the Street Railway Company.

The street railway men held another meeting in the hall in East End last night, and decided upon a plan of compromise of the dispute between the company and men in regard to the price to be paid the new men.

It was decided to make a proposition to the effect that all new men and also old employes who were put to work as conductors should receive a uniform price of 18 cents per hour for the period of one year, the motormen now at work to continue to receive 20 cents.

The men think this is a great concession on their part, and when the conference committee lays the proposition before the company today, it is thought it will be met with a favorable reply. If it is not the employes believe they have done their share, and will refuse to treat fur-

New Castle, Pa., Dec. 12.-Miss Gertrude Roberts, a handsome young woman about 24 years old, whose home is in East Liverpool, O., was arrested yesterday afternoon charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Miss Roberts, who visited here last January, was the plaintiff in a sensational case in which Porter Smith, of this city, was the defendant. The case came to an end this morning, when the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Before the trial began the officers learned that the young woman had a revolver in her pocket, and it was stated that she made the remark that if she could not get justice one way she would another. One of the officers told her he knew about the revolver, and asked her for it. After some hesitation she gave it up and the weapon has remained ever since in the possession of County Detective Marshall.

This afternoon she walked into the office of Detective Marshall and asked for the revolver. When she was refused she said:

"You had better give it to me, as I have a bigger one in my pocket now than the one you've got."

Detective Marshall at once searched her and found another revolver, one of the bulldog type. The information was afterward made. She was taken before Judge Wallace and entered a plea of guilty.

Miss Roberts, who has frequently visited here, bears an excellent reputation and is connected with some of the best families in the county. The crime with which she charged Smith was alleged to have been committed nearly a year ago, but the information was only made a month ago.

About 3 o'clock Judge Wallace called Miss Roberts into the bar of the court and ordered her to leave the city at 5 o'clock this afternoon. If she was found here after that hour he would have her brought into the court room and sent to the work house. The young woman said she would leave,

Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

New Castle, Pa., Dec. 12.-Miss Gertrude Roberts, a handsome young woman about 24 years old, whose home is in East Liverpool, O., was arrested yesterday afternoon charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Miss Roberts, who visited here last January, was the plaintiff in a sensational case in which Porter Smith, of this city, was the defendant. The case came to an end this morning, when the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Before the trial began the officers learned that the young woman had a revolver in her pocket, and it was stated that she made the remark that if she could not get justice one way she would another. One of the officers told her he knew about the revolver, and asked her for it. After some hesitation she gave it up and the weapon has remained ever since in the possession of County Detective Marshall.

This afternoon she walked into the office of Detective Marshall and asked for the revolver. When she was refused she said:

"You had better give it to me, as I have a bigger one in my pocket now than the one you've got."

Detective Marshall at once searched her and found another revolver, one of the bulldog type. The information was afterward made. She was taken before Judge Wallace and entered a plea of guilty.

Miss Roberts, who has frequently visited here, bears an excellent reputation and is connected with some of the best families in the county. The crime with which she charged Smith was alleged to have been committed nearly a year ago, but the information was only made a month ago.

About 3 o'clock Judge Wallace call ed Miss Roberts into the bar of the court and ordered her to leave the city at 5 o'clock this afternoon. If she was found here after that hour he would have her brought into the court room and sent to the work house. The young woman said she would leave,

A ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

And There Is Not the Shadow of Doubt That Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction.

TWO HEARTS THAT NOW FAIL

To Beat As One—She Was Fair but Fickle, and Now They

NEVER SPEAK AS THEY PASS BY

The course of true love will not always glide along with serenity and calmness. We have evidence of this fact in real life. Truth is often stranger than fiction. Romance is often cast in the shade by stern reality. And this short preamble introduces us to our story.

They reside in this immediate community of East Liverpool. Three parties are interested—the lover, his sweetheart, and the fellow who indulged in the reprehensible practice of casting what is known as "sheeps' eyes" at the charming inomarata or dulciena of the other fellow. The lovers became infatuated with one another some three years since. The gentleman in the case has confidentially informed an intimate friend that, in the early days of their courtship, he had but a passing liking for the lady in question. But she possesses such winning ways that, before he became aware of the fact, he was inextrically entangled in the meshes formed by the little charmer known as Cupid.

All went well until one day last summer, when a gypsy fortune teller, seer, palmist and mind reader, informed the winsome maiden that fate had decreed that she would not be wedded to the lad with the golden locks, but that the lad with the hair like unto that of the raven's wing would woo and wed her.

In the meantime the fair-haired lover, constant and true, with not the slightest idea in his mind that his sweetheart was fair but fickle, had been working like a Trojan in order to fit out a cosy and comfortable home for the girl he loved so well.

Some few weeks since the ardent wooer paid a visit to this section, in order to make preparations for the wedding, on Christmas, and the bridal trip was to be a jaunt to the home already secured and nicely furnished.

But, alas, "there's many a slip twixt the cup and the lip." The lover hastened to the home residence of his fiancee, his heart beating high with pleasure, and his despair and just anger may be imagined when the heartless maiden coolly told him that she no longer loved him, that her affections had been transferred to another man, and that she had no intention of carrying out the terms of her plighted troth.

When he finally understood her perfldy and double dealing, his honest love changed to wrath and contempt. He had given her many valuable presents during the days of their engagement, he looking upon her as the woman who was to become his honored and beloved wife. Among these presents were a gold watch, silver knives and forks, and a handsome set of furs. These he demanded should be returned to him. She met the demand all right on the watch question, and that of the cutlery, but drew the line on the furs, as her paternal ancestor on the female side of the souse had intimated that the biting winter winds were hovering around and about, and these snug garments would come into splendid play in such an emergency. But the whilom lover, transformed into the stern judge of the eternal fitness of things in such an unparalleled case of baseness and desertion, pressed his claim and secured the garments; and then, to show that he was not miserly nor mean, burned them to ashes in her presence.

And now the new lover comes on the scene of action; he of the raven locks; he of the gypsy's prophecy; he for whose sake the fair maiden has broken plighted troth and sacred engagement, and possibly broken the heart of a' good man and true. And this new lover is said to have urged his inomarata to consummate their immediate marriage, in order that he might claim the right to protect her as his wife, and bar out all future intereference in her life, on the part of her late lover, in case he felt like giving her trouble or annoyance.

Surely this is a romance in real life. We await fuller developments. There may possibly be a marriage ceremony performed in our suburbs in the immediate future, about Christmas time; but the original intended will not occupy the most important berth in such emergencies or tragedies.

"CUT-THROATS."

Parties who make it the practice and custom of their lives to cut prices on their product below legitimate figures are known as "Cut-Throats." They are the very worst enemies that the labor element can have, as indulgence in the pernicious practice will eventually compel or force a reduction of wages, as no employer of workmen can run a business at a loss for any length of time. The "Cut-Throat" is the direct enemy of unionism.

"LITTLE SHIPS."

Little ships are threatened with high waves when they venture too far from shore, especially in time of storm. The same rule holds good with little papers like the News Review, backed only by Right Truth, in time of a political storm raised at our national capital by the distillers and brewers of the country. who threaten all manner of evil to the legislators and lawmakers of this great and grand republic if the tax on beer is not reduced. But this little ship, thank God, fears no man or body of men when duty calls for action. Humble though we be-but a mere speck on the body journalistic of the nation, we are glad that we have some influence; glad that we reach, every day, good and clean citizens of power and influence; glad that God gives us the courage to defend the Right and fling defiance in the face

THE WARD HEELER.

The ward heeler is the individual who robs politicians who have aspirations for office. He bleeds his man for a given amount of money, secures the sum under the promise that it makes no mistakes in these stateshall be expended in what is known as legitimate political wire pulling, puts three-fourths of the sum in his private bank account and expends the one-fourth in the manner in which the four-fourths should have been disbursed, as per his solemn promise to his victim. If the money is to be spent in the saloons, buying franchises for drinks and drunks, and his employer is willing that it shall go in this manner, he boasts that he knows the ropes fully, and that he can pull the whole saloon element over to the side of his man. If he hits a clean and manly candidate, one who is willing to put up money for legitimate expenses, but who forbids the expenditure of a penny in the purchase of booze, he takes the other tack, is not a believer in the saloon element, is a church member and a total abstainer, and has his pull with the labor and union element, which vote is subject to his bid and call; when, to tell the plain truth, the fellow has no pull with any labor organization or union, as the men who are embraced in this class in the present day are readers and thinkers, and vote to suit themselves, from a matter of fixed principle, and they hold in contempt you insist on having diamonds, and the paid ward heeler, as they know must have them, even if they are a him to be a trickster, a robber, a liar little rich for your blood; if your and a cheat. #### THE PITY OF IT.

The curse of the alcohol habit is an awful thing in a human being's life. Do you know anything about it? Have you an experimental, realistic, life knowledge of the truth of this statement? God, in his infinite love, have mercy on you if such be the case. Only the power of God's love will save such a human being, man or woman. The Keeley cure will not do it. The Silver Ash cure will not do it. These cures may aid and help the inebriate and alcohol victim for the time being, and may afford transient or temporary relief; but, as a rule, the sufferer will,

It is the truth, readers of the News Review; the plain and simple and unvarnished truth, and more's the pity. Men die, and the verdict of the family physician is "heart disease." And the doctor tells part of the truth. It is not expedient for him to add: "Superinduced by the too free use of alcoholic stimulants." And this article would not be worth a baubee unless we add the clencher. And the root of the whole matter is to put yourself on record here on earth. What are you doing to help the matter? What are you doing to save your brother? What answer will you make to God in the day of final reckoning? Did you vote for or against the saloon when the opportunity was given you some few months ago? Was your name among the clean 1307; or was it among the ranks of the saloonists, the gamblers and the keepers of and visitors to brothels? May the day speedily come when the masses will be ready to ask God to drive the saloon and the rum devil from our great republic.

----COMMENDATION.

Council deserves warm commendation for their action of last night respecting the paving of Pennsylvania avenue between the city proper and the school house in East End. "CUT-THROATS."

Parties who make it the practice and custom of their lives to cut prices on their product below legitimate figures are known as "Cut-Throats." They are the very worst enemies that the labor element can have, as indulgence in the pernicious practice will eventually compel or force a reduction of wages, as no employer of workmen can run a business at a loss for any length of time. The "Cut-Throat" is the direct enemy of unionism.

Ohio Supreme Court Dismisses His Charges.

OIL TRUST NOT IN CONTEMPT.

Vote of Judges a Tie-But, Under the Rules of the Court, Such a Vote Means Dismissal-Monnett Says He Bows to the Decision of the Court.

Columbus, Dec. 12.-The supreme court, by an equally divided vote. refused to hear the charges of contempt of court preferred by former Attorney G neral Frank S. Monnett, of Ohio, against the Standard Oil company and its officers, including John D. Rockefeller. The court divided is as follows:

For the dismissal-Chief Justice Shauck and Justices Burket and Davis.

Dissenting — Judges Sp ar and Williams. Minshall,

When D. K. Watson was attorney general he instituted a proceeding to oust the Standard Oil company, alleging it had exceeded its corporate powers and was operating in a manner contrary to public policy. On March 2, 1892, the supreme court ousted the company.

On March 21, following, a meeting of stockholders was called and a liquidating board, consisting of John D. Rockefell r, H. M. Flagler and others, appointed to wind up the affairs of the company.

The company set up the claim that it was impossible to close up the business of so gr at a concern in the time allotted. The judge of the supreme court declined to take any acbut informally directed a letter to the attorney of the company, which stated in effect that as long as the Standard Oil company continued its efforts to comply with the decree of the court and to wind up its affairs in Ohio the court would not be dispoled to int rfere.

flov. 9, 1897. F. S. Monnett, then attorney general, filed information in the supreme court, alleging that the Standard Oil company had not complied with the decree of the court and asking that its officers be cited for contempt. The testimony in his proceeding was aken by Allen Brinsmade of Clev land, as master commissioner, and was submitted to the court some months ago.

Mr. Monnett, when asked his opinion of the decision, said that, while the charge of contempt, he bowed to the decree of the court.

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. With her whole being undergoing a change, the seeds of female troubles are sown. Little menstrual disorders, if neglected at the time, will follow the woman all her life and grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are robbing homes and filling grave-yards, proves this. Yet, irregular and painful menstruation are often permitted to go on, sapmenstruation are often permitted to good, sapping the life and energy, while Wine of Cardui, the positive relief for these ills, is on the shelf of every drug store. Wine of Cardui helps the maiden sustain the shock of puberty by inducing a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Wine of Cardui is an emmenagogue of great power, and works wonders in strengthening the delicate and sensitive female organs. Many young women owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. No woman should give up hope until she has given Wine of Cardui a trial. If thousands have secured relief through it, why not you?

Ohio Supreme Court Dismisses His Charges.

OIL TRUST NOT IN CONTEMPT.

Vote of Judges a Tie-But, Under the Rules of the Court, Such a Vote Means Dismissal-Monnett Says He Bows to the Decision of the Court.

Columbus, Dec. 12.-The supreme court, by an equally divided vote, refused to hear the charges of contempt of court preferred by former Attorney G neral Frank S. Monnett. of Ohio, against the Standard Oil company and its officers, including John D. Rockefeller. The court divided is as follows:

For the dismissal-Chief Justice Shauck and Justices Burket and Davis.

Minshall,

Dissenting - Judges Sp ar and Williams.

When D. K. Watson was attorney general he instituted a proceeding to oust the Standard Oil company, alleging it had exceeded its corporate powers and was operating in a manner contrary to public policy. On March 2, 1892, the supreme court ousted the company.

On March 21, following, a meeting of stockholders was called and a liquidating board, consisting of John others, appointed to wind up the affairs of the company.

The company set up the claim that it was impossible to close up the business of so gr at a concern in the time allotted. The judge of the supreme court declined to take any action extending the time in which the company's affairs might be wound up, but informally directed a letter to the attorney of the company, which stated in effect that as long as the Standard Oil company continued its efforts to comply with the decree of the court and to wind up its affairs in Ohio the court would not be dispoled to int rfere.

Lov. 9, 1897, F. S. Monnett, then attorney general, filed information in Standard Oil company had not complied with the decree of the court and asking that its officers be cited and to bed. for contempt. The testimony in his proceeding was aken by Allen Brinsmade of Clev land, as master commissioner, and was submitted to the court some months ago.

Mr. Monnett, when asked his opinion of the decision, said that, while he f lt that the evidence sustained the charge of contempt, he bowed to the decree of the court.

THE MAGNATES COMPLIED.

Threat of Players' Union Representatives Caused Them to Agree to a Hearing.

New York, Dec. 12.-There had been rumors that the National league magnates would not be eager to give the committee of the Players' Protective union a hearing. Clark Griffitn, one of the early arrivals of the union, gave a sharp talk as to the intentions of the union in case they were not given a hearing by the league. The league men only laugh d. Then along came Chief Zimmer, Attorney Taylor She Was a Sister of the Late Ex-Govand others, who said if there was nothing doing here they would take the first train to Philadelphia, and have a chat with President Johnson, of the American league, who was sure to aid th m. #### GEN. CHAFFEE APOLOGIZED.

Field Marshal Von Waldersee Then Invited Him to Breakfast-Incident Amicably Closed.

Berlin, Dec. 12.-The German foreign office authorized the following statement regarding the Waldersee-Chaffee incident, based upon a cable dispatch receiv d from Field Marshal Von Waldersee:

"General Chaffee wrote Field Marshal Von Waldersee a letter in a rough tone. Field Marshal Von Waldersee refused to receive it, returning th same to General Chaffee. The latter then wrote a second letter apologizing for his objectionable expressions, whereupon Filld Marshal Von Waldersee invited General Chaffee to breakfast and the incid nt was amicably closed."

Washington, Dec. 12.-The war department received a report from General Chaffee of the incident that occurred at Pekin in connection with his representations to Field Marshal Von Waldersee. It appears that General Chaffee did use some pr. tty vigorous language in protesting against the thieving and looting of the for-Governor Theodore Roosevelt, of eign troops. What particularly hurt lew York: Hon, Willis G. Emerson, the feeling of Walders e was a pointed reference by General Chaffee to the fact that this disgraceful and unmilitary practice of looting was being indulged in, not by the men who did the fighting and opened the way to Pekin, but by the late comers, who had borne none of the brunt of conflict and hardship. Walders e himself did not reach Pekin until long after the expeditionary force had occupied the town.

It is recognized here officially that General Chaffee had provocation for field marshal. It is significantly pointed out here that p rhaps it was not incumbent upon General Chaffee to make any representations whatever on this subject to the field marshal, as there is no longer any officiai tle between them. When the United States government chang d the character of its military representation in Pekin from an expeditionary force t a mere legation guard, of course that guard no longer came under the control of the officer-in-chief at Pekin, but was simple a part of Minister Conger's household.

Field Marshal Von Waldersee Then Invited Him to Breakfast-Incident Amicably Closed.

Berlin, Dec. 12.-The German foreign office authorized the following statement regarding the Waldersee-Chaffee incident, based upon a cable dispatch receiv d from Field Marshal Von Waldersee:

"General Chaffee wrote Field Marshal Von Waldersee a letter in a rough tone. Field Marshal Von Waldersee refused to receive it, returning the same to General Chaffe. The latter then wrote a second letter apologizing for his objectionable expressions, whereupon Field Marshal Von Waldersee invited General Chaffee to breakfast and the incid nt was amicably closed."

Washington, Dec. 12 .- The war department received a report from General Chaffee of the incident that occurred at Pekin in connection with his representations to Field Marshal Von Waldersee. It appears that General Chaffee did use some pr. tty vigorous language in protesting against the thieving and looting of the foreign troops. What particularly hurt the feeling of Walders e was a pointed reference by General Chaffee to the fact that this disgraceful and unmilitary practice of looting was being indulged in, not by the men who did the fighting and opened the way to Pekin, but by the late comers, who had borne none of the brunt of conflict and hardship. Walders e himself did not reach Pekin until long after the expeditionary force had occupied the town.

It is recognized here officially that General Chaffee had provocation for his deliverance, but regret is felt that he used this tone in addressing the field marshal. It is significantly pointed out here that p rhaps it was not incumbent upon General Chaffee to make any representations whatever as there is no longer any officiai tle between them. It was decided to make a proposition to the effect that all new men and also old employes who were put to work as conductors should receive a uniform price of 18 cents per hour for the period of one year, the motormen now at work to continue to receive 20 cents.

The following communication received this morning from John Barnes explains itself:

Editor News Review-May I be allowed to reply to the letter from Joseph Hewitt, which appeared in your paper of last evening.

It has never been a mystery as to who the child's relatives were. for many people in East Liverpool knew who she was.

Now, sir, it has always been my desire and wish since this trouble began and which has plunged me into disreputable notoriety, to return Fanny to the guardians of the Chell workhouse, from whom we received her and to whom I am responsible until she is 16 years of age. That is why we have so persistently endeavored to regain the child, which has been unlawfully kept from us.

Now, sir, if Mrs. Vincent has the child's welfare at heart let her coincide with the wish of the child's brother and I will pay the passage back to England. This trouble will then end, and John Barnes will know, as he always did know, how to behave himself.

Yours in anticipation,

JOHN BARNES. The News Review understands that the parties now in possession of the young girl are perfectly satisfied that Mr. Barnes shall pay the transportation to England, but that the said parties are firmly and unalterably opposed to the idea of placing the child in the care of the Barnes family until such time as the start for England shall be made.

Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

New Castle, Pa., Dec. 12.-Miss Gertrude Roberts, a handsome young woman about 24 years old, whose home is in East Liverpool, O., was arrested yesterday afternoon charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Miss Roberts, who visited here last January, was the plaintiff in a sensational case in which Porter Smith, of this city, was the defendant. The case came to an end this morning, when the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Before the trial began the officers learned that the young woman had a revolver in her pocket, and it was stated that she made the remark that if she could not get justice one way she would another. One of the officers told her he knew about the revolver, and asked her for it. After some hesitation she gave it up and the weapon has remained ever since in the possession of County Detective Marshall.

This afternoon she walked into the office of Detective Marshall and asked for the revolver. When she was refused she said:

"You had better give it to me, as I have a bigger one in my pocket now than the one you've got."

Detective Marshall at once searched her and found another revolver, one of the bulldog type. The information was afterward made. She was taken before Judge Wallace and entered a plea of guilty.

Miss Roberts, who has frequently visited here, bears an excellent reputation and is connected with some of the best families in the county. The crime with which she charged Smith was alleged to have been committed nearly a year ago, but the information was only made a month ago.

About 3 o'clock Judge Wallace called Miss Roberts into the bar of the court and ordered her to leave the city at 5 o'clock this afternoon. If she was found here after that hour he would have her brought into the court room and sent to the work house. The young woman said she would leave,

A ROMANCE

IN REAL LIFE

And There Is Not the Shadow of Doubt That Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction.

TWO HEARTS THAT NOW FAIL

To Beat As One—She Was Fair but Fickle, and Now They

NEVER SPEAK AS THEY PASS BY

The course of true love will not always glide along with serenity and calmness. We have evidence of this fact in real life. Truth is often stranger than fiction. Romance is often cast in the shade by stern reality. And this short preamble introduces us to our story.

They reside in this immediate community of East Liverpool. Three parties are interested-the lover, his sweetheart, and the fellow who indulged in the reprehensible practice of casting what is known as "sheeps' eyes" at the charming inomarata or dulciena of the other fellow. The lovers became infatuated with one another some three years since. The gentleman in the case has confidentially informed an intimate friend that, in the early days of their courtship, he had but a passing liking for the lady in question. But she possesses such winning ways that, before he became aware of the fact, he was inextrically entangled in the meshes formed by the little charmer known as Cupid.

All went well until one day last summer, when a gypsy fortune teller, seer, palmist and mind reader, informed the winsome maiden that fate had decreed that she would not be wedded to the lad with the golden locks, but that the lad with the hair like unto that of the raven's wing would woo and wed her.

In the meantime the fair-haired lover, constant and true, with not the slightest idea in his mind that his sweetheart was fair but fickle, had been working like a Trojan in order to fit out a cosy and comfortable home for the girl he loved so well.

Some few weeks since the ardent wooer paid a visit to this section, in order to make preparations for the wedding, on Christmas, and the bridal trip was to be a jaunt to the home already secured and nicely furnished.

But, alas, "there's many a slip twixt the cup and the lip." The lover hastened to the home residence of his fiancee, his heart beating high with pleasure, and his despair and just anger may be imagined when the heartless maiden coolly told him that she no longer loved him, that her affections had been transferred to another man, and that she had no intention of carrying out the terms of her plighted troth.

When he finally understood her perfldy and double dealing, his honest love changed to wrath and contempt. He had given her many valuable presents during the days of their engagement, he looking upon her as the woman who was to become his honored and beloved wife. Among these presents were a gold watch, silver knives and forks, and a handsome set of furs. These he demanded should be returned to him. She met the demand all right on the watch question, and that of the cutlery, but drew the line on the furs, as her paternal ancestor on the female side of the souse had intimated that the biting winter winds were hovering around and about, and these snug garments would come into splendid play in such an emergency. But the whilom lover, transformed into the stern judge of the eternal fitness of things in such an unparalleled case of baseness and desertion, pressed his claim and secured the garments; and then, to show that he was not miserly nor mean, burned them to ashes in her presence.

And now the new lover comes on the scene of action; he of the raven locks; he of the gypsy's prophecy; he for whose sake the fair maiden has broken plighted troth and sacred engagement, and possibly broken the heart of a' good man and true. And this new lover is said to have urged his inomarata to consummate their immediate marriage, in order that he might claim the right to protect her as his wife, and bar out all future intereference in her life, on the part of her late lover, in case he felt like giving her trouble or annoyance.

Surely this is a romance in real life. We await fuller developments. There may possibly be a marriage ceremony performed in our suburbs in the immediate future, about Christmas time; but the original intended will not occupy the most important berth in such emergencies or tragedies.

A DAY IN WALL STREET.

Large Demand For Stocks Apparently Unexplained-Some Reports That Seemed to Help Anthracite Group.

New York, D c. 12.-The demand so urgent and so w. dy distributed as to suggest a recrudescence of the bullish enthusiasm of the period imm diately f llowing the election. The motives of this buying and the strength of the whole market were somewhat mysterious. The Anthracite group had its own particular cause of str ugth in the circumstantial assertions of the passing control of the Pennsylvania Coal company to the Erie railroad and the consequent frustration of the plan for a new railroad from the coal regions to Tidewat r to satisfy the ideas of the indep ndent operators regarding transportation rates. No authoritative confirmation could be had of the reports current, but the record of the tape was strongly confirmatory. New Jersey Central was an early exception to the strength of the group, but recovered later. The gains in the group ran from 1 to 3 points. This mov ment was the mainstay of the market, but the general strength was too striking to be explained as a sympathetic movement. There was some d mand for London account on the opening of a new account incident to the settlement, but this buy ing is called professional arbitrage operation, and may originate either in New York or London. The most marked effect was produced on Southern Pacific, which opened up 11/4 and advanced later to 43, closing at the highest. The belief has prevailed in Wall street that there was a very heavy short account in some of the railroad stocks for which western speculators were liable, the speculation extending also into the steel stocks. The bear account in the latter group has been aimed at by the advance this week and may have been reach d in the railroad group Tues-

The money market outlook continues threatening, so that the supposition is aroused that Tuesday's buying is for the account of financial int rests which are independent of the ordinary resources of the money market.

The strengh in stocks was well; maintain d to the close, except in the steel group.

The bond market was irregular Total sales, par value, $4.045,000. United States refunding 2s coupon advanced 1/2 per cent on the last call.

Ohio Supreme Court Dismisses His Charges.

OIL TRUST NOT IN CONTEMPT.

Vote of Judges a Tie-But, Under the Rules of the Court, Such a Vote Means Dismissal-Monnett Says He Bows to the Decision of the Court.

Columbus, Dec. 12.-The supreme court, by an equally divided vote, refused to hear the charges of contempt of court preferred by former Attorney G neral Frank S. Monnett. of Ohio, against the Standard Oil company and its officers, including John D. Rockefeller. The court divided is as follows:

For the dismissal-Chief Justice Shauck and Justices Burket and Davis.

Minshall,

Dissenting - Judges Sp ar and Williams.

When D. K. Watson was attorney general he instituted a proceeding to oust the Standard Oil company, alleging it had exceeded its corporate powers and was operating in a manner contrary to public policy. On March 2, 1892, the supreme court ousted the company.

On March 21, following, a meeting of stockholders was called and a liquidating board, consisting of John D. Rockefell r, H. M. Flagler and others, appointed to wind up the affairs of the company.

The company set up the claim that it was impossible to close up the business of so gr at a concern in the time allotted. The judge of the supreme court declined to take any action extending the time in which the company's affairs might be wound up. but informally directed a letter to the attorney of the company, which stated in effect that as long as the Standard Oil company continued its efforts to comply with the decree of the court and to wind up its affairs in Ohio the court would not be dispoled to int rfere.

Cov. 9, 1897. F. S. Monnett, then attorney general, filed information in the supreme court, alleging that the Standard Oil company had not complied with the decree of the court and asking that its officers be cited and to bed. for contempt. The testimony in his proceeding was aken by Allen Brinsmade of Clev land, as master commissioner, and was submitted to the court some months ago.

Mr. Monnett, when asked his opinion of the decision, said that, while he f lt that the evidence sustained the charge of contempt, he bowed to the decree of the court.

THE MAGNATES COMPLIED.

Caused Them to Agree to a Hearing.

New York, Dec. 12.-There had been rumors that the National league magnates would not be eager to give the committee of the Players' Protective union a hearing. Clark Griffitn, one of the early arrivals of the union, gave a sharp talk as to the intentions of the union in case they were not given a hearing by the league. The league men only laugh d. Then along came Chief Zimmer, Attorney Taylor and others, who said if there was nothing doing here they would take the first train to Philadelphia, and have a chat with President Johnson, of the American league, who was sure to aid th m. This threat on the the Players' union will be given a hearing today.

Harry Pulliam, of the Pittsburg club, is ill at Cambridge Springs, and sent word that he would be unable to attend the meeting.

President Dr yfuss announced that at the request of Manager Clarke, he had drafted Second Baseman Brashears, of the Sioux City club of the West rn league.

Frank De Paas Robinson said he would offer the position of manager of the Pittsburg club to Donovan and expected him to accept.

President Drevfuss, of the Pittsburg club, said the New York officials asked him to put a price on the releas of Third Baseman Jimmy Williams, but that he refused to do

Dreyfuss said that it would be foolish to think of his trading Williams for Doyle, but that the Pittsburg officials stand ready to pay a good price for the New York first baseman in case Manager Clarke decided finally that he wanted him.

McKinley and Harrison at a Dinner. . Washington, Dec. 12.-President one American.

McKinly and ex-President Harrison met last night at a dinner given by Justice Harlan, of the supreme court. It was the first dinner that the president had taken in Washington outside the white hous for some time. The fact of his accepting an invitation where he would meet ex-Presi. dent Harrison, is taken to effectively dispose of the reports in circulation that the relations between the two had been strained of late.

DARING BANK ROBBERY.

Six Masked Men Capture the City Marshal at Seville, O .- Then Dynamited the Bank and Secured Large Sum.

Seville, O., Dec. 12.-Town Marshal Waver was passing J. N. High's bank when two men stepped from the shadow of the bank doorway and confronted him. Four others quickly filled in the rear and one told the marshal that at the least outcry he would be shot. Weaver said he would be quiet, and at the order of the leader of the r bbers, all of whom w re masked, accompanied the party int, a room above the bank, where he was bound and gagged, and laid on the floor.

The burglars had previously visited the room and bould and gagged John Ross, who us d the place as a sleeping apartment. Th y then broke in the front door of the bank and went to work to open the safe.

The robbers proceeded to the bank, smashed in the front door, and went to work on the bank safe with tools and explosives. Three stood guard at the door and in the vicinity of the bank, while the others d'd the job. They finally got the inn r door of the safe open.

Mrs. Mary Rider, living next to the bank, heard a noise in the middle of the night, and looked out to see what was going on. She discovered a light in the bank, and could see the men at work.

Hastily dr ssing, th woman ran out in ht street and tried to sound an alarm. One of the men saw her, ran out of the building, caught her and hustled her into the room over th bank. There she was bound, but not gagged. William Houts, who lives near the bank, heard the noise, and ran down stairs to give the alarm. but an outside watcher saw him coming. He was compelled at the point of a revolv r to go back to the house,

Apparently about this time the fire bell began to ring. Marshal Weaver had escaped from the bonds which h ld him, and see ng a light in the bank, sneaked away to the engine house without being detected by any of the robbers' guards. The startled citizen: b gan to pour into the streets, some in different degrees of dishabille, to learn the cause of the

The robbers hastly scooped up about $1,600 in the bank safe, ov rlooking $900 more in a separate pack-Threat of Players' Union Representatives age. They then emerged from the bank in a body and made a dash for the Cleveland, Lora'n and Wheeling station, flourishing their revolvers and warning the people to get off the streets. Few, if any, of the citizens were armed and no shots were fired.

The robbers jumped on a hand car at the station and whirl d rapidly away to the southward. A party of citizens started in pursuit.

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. With her whole being undergoing a change, the seeds of female troubles are sown. Little menstrual disorders, if neglected at the time, will follow the woman all her life and grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are robbing homes and filling grave-yards, proves this. Yet, irregular and painful menstruation are often permitted to go on, sappled the state of the permitted to go on, sappled the state of the permitted to go on, sappled the state of the permitted to go on, sappled the state of the permitted to go on, sappled the state of the permitted to go on, sappled the state of the ping the life and energy, while Wine of Cardui, the positive relief for these ills, is on the shelf of every drug store. Wine of Cardui helps the maiden sustain the shock of puberty by inducing a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Wine of Cardui is an emmenagogue of great power, and works wonders in strengthening the deli-cate and sensitive female organs. Many young women owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. No woman should give up hope until she has given Wine of Cardui a trial. If thousands have secured relief through it, why not you?

WINE OF CARDU

Tully, Kas., Feb. 24, 1899.

I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time; was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything; in fact was miserable. ### PREACHERS' PROBLEM

Cleveland Presbytery Discusses Poor Church Attendance.

DECIDED ON PRAYER AND FASTING

The Last Day of the New Year They Will Meet From About 8 O'Clock In the Morning to 6 In the Evening For Providential Guidance.

Cleveland, D c. 12.-At the regular meeting of the Cleveland presbytery the question of how to counteract the influ nces which are decreasing the attendance at the churches represented was discussed. A number of most eminent minisers pr sent declared that they had for some time sought to increase the attendance by means of sermons upon subj cts of popular nterest. This, htey all said, proved effectual for a time, but ceased to accomplish its object. What to do Rebekah degree, at their regular next was the qu stion. The presbytery decided to consider it during a season of prayer and fasting, to last from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., behind locked doors, at the Euclid Avenue Presbyterian church, on the last day of the

GEN. CHAFFEE APOLOGIZED.

Field Marshal Von Waldersee Then Invited Him to Breakfast-Incident Amicably Closed.

Berlin, Dec. 12.-The German foreign office authorized the following statement regarding the Waldersee-Chaffee incident, based upon a cable dispatch receiv d from Field Marshal Von Waldersee:

"General Chaffee wrote Field Marshal Von Waldersee a letter in a rough tone. Field Marshal Von Waldersee refused to receive it, returning the same to General Chaffe. The latter then wrote a second letter apologizing for his objectionable expressions, whereupon Field Marshal Von Waldersee invited General Chaffee to breakfast and the incid nt was amicably closed."

Washington, Dec. 12.-The war department received a report from General Chaffee of the incident that occurred at Pekin in connection with his representations to Field Marshal Von Waldersee. It appears that General Chaffee did use some protty vigorous language in protesting against the thieving and looting of the foreign troops. What particularly hurt the feeling of Walders e was a pointed reference by General Chaffee to the fact that this disgraceful and unmilitary practice of looting was being indulged in, not by the men who did the fighting and opened the way to Pekin, but by the late comers, who had borne none of the brunt of conflict and hardship. Walders e himself did not reach Pekin until long after the expeditionary force had occupied the town.

It is recognized here officially that General Chaffee had provocation for his deliverance, but regret is felt that he used this tone in addressing the field marshal. It is significantly pointed out here that p rhaps it was not incumbent upon General Chaffee to make any representations whatever between them. When the United States government chang d the character of its military representation in Pekin from an expeditionary force to a mere legation guard, of course that trol of the officer-in-chief at Pekin, but was simply a part of Minister Conger's household.
